

Planning and tracking with Projects

Build adaptable projects to track your work on GitHub.

Learning about Projects

About Projects

Quickstart for Projects

Best practices for Projects

Creating projects

Creating a project

Copying an existing project

Managing items in your project

Adding items to your project

Converting draft issues to issues

Editing items in your project

Archiving items from your project

Understanding fields

About text and number fields

About date fields

About single select fields

About iteration fields

Renaming custom fields

Deleting custom fields

Customizing views in your project

Changing the layout of a view

Customizing the table layout

Customizing the board layout

Customizing the roadmap layout

Filtering projects

Managing your views

Automating your project

Using the built-in automations

Using the API to manage Projects

Automating Projects using Actions

Adding items automatically

Archiving items automatically

Managing your project

Managing your project

Managing visibility of your projects

Managing access to your projects

Managing project templates in your organization

Closing and deleting your projects

Adding your project to a repository

Adding your project to a team

Legal

© 2023 GitHub, Inc. Terms Privacy Status Pricing Expert services Blog