

Setting up enterprise accounts for procurement companies

If you pay for GitHub Enterprise Cloud on behalf of a client, you can configure their enterprise account and payment settings to optimize convenience and security.

About enterprise accounts for procurement companies

You can create an enterprise account for your client, make a payment on their behalf, then pass ownership of the enterprise account to your client.

Creating and paying for an enterprise account on behalf of a client

You can create and pay for an enterprise account on GitHub on behalf of a client.

Renewing your client's enterprise account

You can renew your client's enterprise account by adding a payment method.

Legal