Account and profile documentation

Make GitHub Enterprise Server work best for you by adjusting the settings for your personal account, personalizing your profile page, and managing the notifications you receive for activity on GitHub.

Quickstart

Start here

Changing your GitHub username

You can change the username for your account on your GitHub Enterprise Server instance if your instance uses built-in authentication.

Managing your profile README

You can add a README to your GitHub profile to tell other people about yourself.

About notifications

Notifications provide updates about the activity on your GitHub Enterprise Server instance that you've subscribed to. You can use the notifications inbox to customize, triage, and manage your updates.

Popular

Managing your theme settings

You can manage how GitHub Enterprise Server looks to you by setting a theme preference that either follows your system settings or always uses a light or dark mode.

Setting your commit email address

You can set the email address that is used to author commits on your GitHub Enterprise Server instance and on your computer.

Inviting collaborators to a personal repository

You can add users as collaborators to your personal repository.

Configuring notifications

Choose the type of activity on GitHub that you want to receive notifications for and how you want these updates delivered.
