Authenticating with a passkey

You can add passkeys to your personal account on GitHub.com so that you can sign in safely and easily, without requiring a password and two-factor authentication. You can also use passkeys when performing a sensitive action (sudo mode), or to authenticate a password reset.

About passkeys

Managing your passkeys

Signing in with a passkey

Legal

Terms   Privacy   Status   Pricing   Expert services   Blog