Targeting different environments

You can configure environments with protection rules and secrets. A workflow job that references an environment must follow any protection rules for the environment before running or accessing the environment's secrets.

Using environments for deployment

You can configure environments with protection rules and secrets. A workflow job that references an environment must follow any protection rules for the environment before running or accessing the environment's secrets.

Legal

Terms   Privacy   Status   Pricing   Expert services   Blog